Armijo High School

Editor: Kerry Lanham
Advisor: Mr. Day

Armijo's cheerleaders became just as involved as the players during the Rio Vista football game.

Armijo's football games looked like ol' Homeweek, with the returning of its graduates and fellow students to cheer the team to victory.

Foreword . . .

The staff has furnished only an "image" of the story that you will find when you turn these pages filled with warm smiles of friendship, trials and disappointments of life and many happy recollections of the year gone by. The rest is up to the individual. Underclassmen who return to Armijo High in the fall will continue to keep up the school spirit, and strive always upward, for a higher standard. Meeting the challenges set before them, improving and bringing forth new ideas.

Graduates will go their separate ways, leaving behind old friends and taking upon themselves new responsibilities with the knowledge they have gained during their four years of high school. Their goal . . . SUCCESS.

It is not today that you will appreciate the La Mezcla. Tomorrow, when it isn't so easy to think back on the happenings of the 1971 school year, we will treasure the memories this book has stored for us!

The following statement will always hold true:
"Tis pleasant, sure, to see ones name in print."

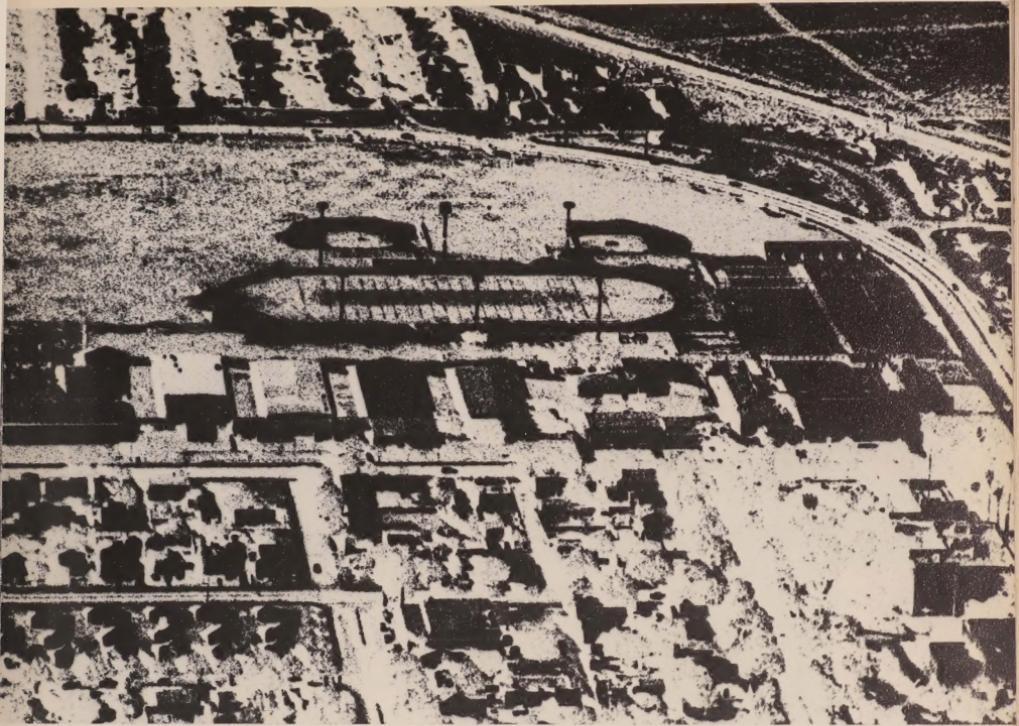

An Image ...

824 Washington Street . . . Home of Armijo High School

Armijo's sign carriers marched proudly in front of the band this year, in parades and on the field.

A mystifying feeling swept over everyone as Armijo struggled in the last few seconds of a football game.

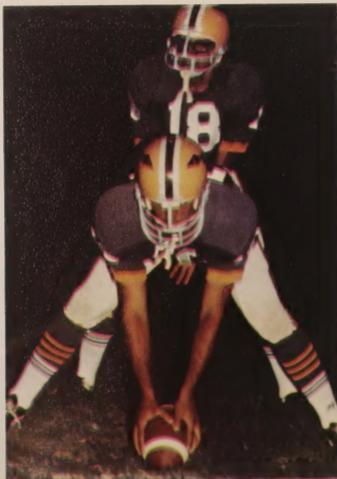

Of Skill . . .

824 Washington is a diverse physical plant possessing the source of new life for the people who become a part of it. As a campus, the possibilities for knowledge, academic stimulation, growth and involvement are as diversified as the students themselves.

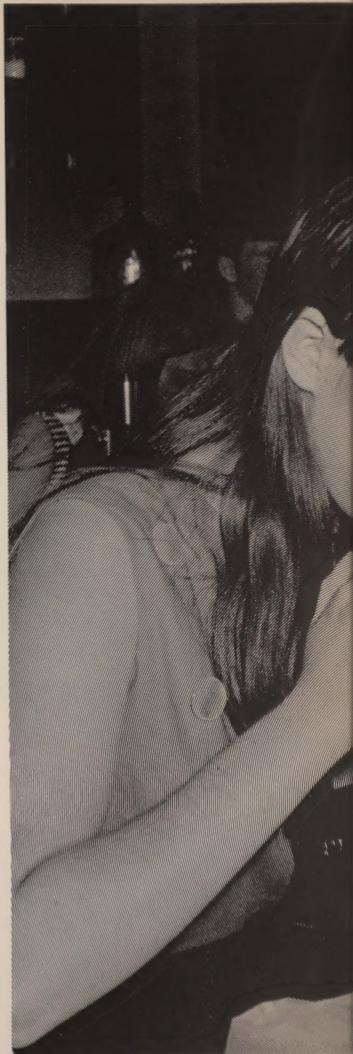

Every person becomes a part of Armijo, and for four years, they take from it what they want. Success or failure, it is one's own problem of maintaining a feeling of achievement and skill, a feeling, which is necessary to preserve self, to keep from being engulfed in the swift current, drifting from one unlearned experience to another.

Randy Merritt shows his ability and skill at architectural drafting.

Dave Garcia centers the ball for quarterback Pete Dominguez in pre-game warm ups.

Debbie Perkins finds the microscope a challenge to the eye.

Kathy Anderson, Laurie Jackson, and Jim Gould study food structure under a microscope.

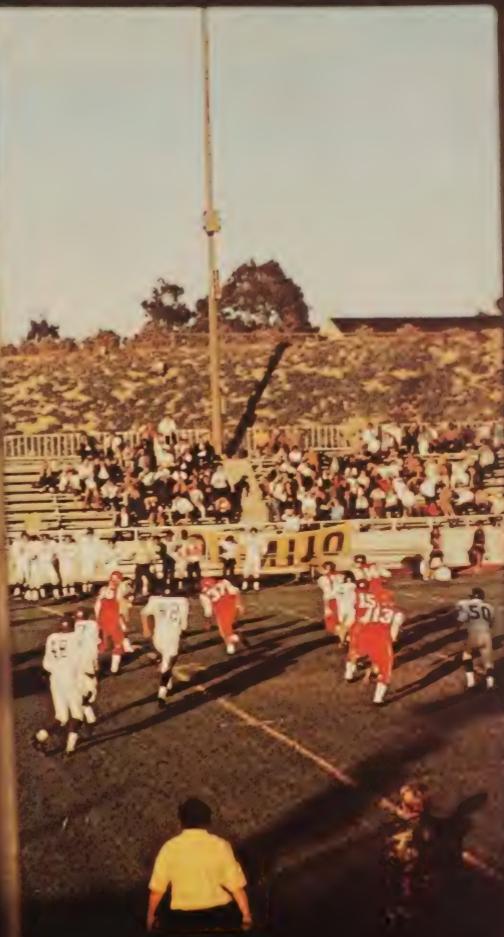

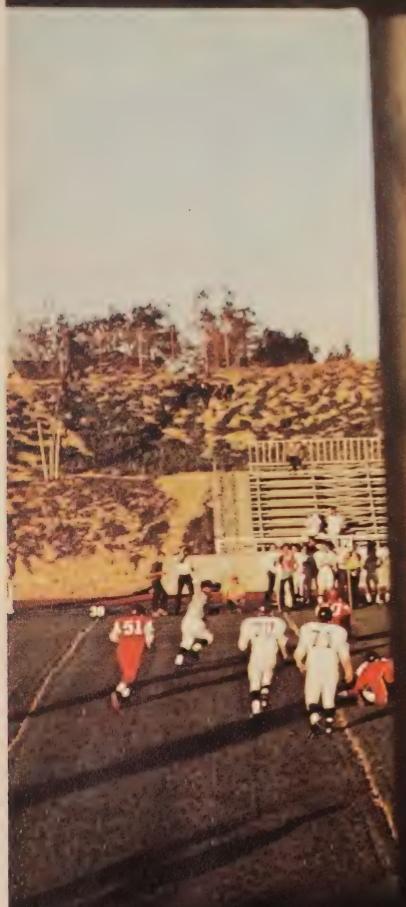

Ronald LaCroix demonstrates his marching skills and ability.

Home-grown flowers decorated the Junior float, it placed first in this years Homecoming Parade.

Gary Bailey, Steve Piontek, and Jimmy Hendricks show real skill in setting up a chemistry experiment in Mr. Brown's room.

Achievement . . .

We value both individual and team effort. We compete among ourselves and with other schools. We put our talents on the line, as a matter of pride, and keep our performances at a respectable level.

For some of us our extracurricular activities, athletic skills, or achievements are a source of pride that carries into our academic pursuits and campus activities.

Unfortunately, a lot of us are unconcerned. Win or lose, our interests in Armijo are very poor; too few of us bother or even care. We have a long way to go collectively before our spectator efforts and academic attitudes approach the spirited level of our athletes.

George Martin gets congratulations from Coach Hopkins after receiving the Certificate of Merit for United States High School honors of All State—All Regional—and—All American for basketball.

Cindy Low takes complete interest in the play being made at the Rio Vista game.

Robin Sparks can't decide if this book was as good as she thought it was. Shirleen Pugh catches a bit of shut-eye before the game at Wooster.

Relaxation . . .

At AHS students spend much of their time tackling the work that is necessary for a high school diploma. Each student, however, has little trouble finding some leisure time from diversion from classes and homework.

For the student with a hearty appetite, student involvement provides a wealth of social activities for dispensing relaxation and leisure. Giving the student a chance to catch his breath and forget studies for a while before plunging into another stretch of classes and homework is just as important as any academic pursuit.

For real peace and quiet. . . "Head for the Hills!"

Armijo's football games were attended by the many . . . and the few.

Little Tammy Hatcher lets Frank Cereda know how she thought the last play should have been made, during the Fairfield- Armijo game.

And Anticipation . . .

The realities of our life are refracted and channeled into a thousand fantasies. Like characters etched upon pages of a fairy tale we act our silly parts in a make-believe setting. Soon we will leave this shelter and no longer will reality be distorted. But, . . . until then the future is colored with glass of green, pink, and yellow as we grope for a tinted truth through stained glass windows.

United we stand, Black and White. . . for purple and gold. And the lonely yells of the diminishing crowd ushers in the closing scenes of this year. . . .1970-71.

The stands at Wooster were blessed with Armijo Boosters.

Mud does not a football game make!

The feelings portrayed here by Michele Manuel were the same as everyone's the night Armijo defeated Fairfield.

Charmaine Nenio and MaryLou Farris exclaiming with shouts of joy, "We're gonna win! We're gonna win! We're gonna win!"

Involvement . . . Study . . . Breaks . . . Leisure . .

Students knew it was going to happen the minute they registered, the day they walked into the classroom. Exams will not catch Ronald Nocchi, Pat Butler and Darrell Pryde unprepared.

Concern . . . Introspection . . .

The outcry of the modern student is involvement. Good or bad the rehearsal is on. The scene is stark and the actors are intensely involved.

To create new activities means added responsibility for each individual. A student defends himself, innocent or guilty, as he becomes either participant or bystander.

The trek to class continues, rain or shine. Meanwhile, outside, the search for knowledge is interrupted by the search for social contacts and acceptance. When classes are over, there is time for relaxation and fun. The game is on! Bring your own cheering section.

Involvement, concern, introspection. These are some of the facets of campus life sparkling their lure to those who want them. We live with hearts that run and hands that dream and clocks that have no hour hand.

Leisure moments are unique for each individual.

Campus Life

Zona O'Dowd, Jackie Scudder, Gina Mack and Delores Jenkins find the way to create school spirit is simply to give themselves.

Involvement . . .

Unique For Each Individual

A campus is not merely a conglomeration of buildings, textbooks and forms filed in triplicate. It is people whose individual lives interlock for a few hours each day and give the campus its living breathing soul.

One wonders sometimes if being alone is such a bad thing. Some people actually seem to enjoy a type of personal freedom and solitude when alone. One remembers going through a paperback one solitary week in November. This was exciting and gave one a feeling of accomplishment, but characters in a book are often fictional. A time comes when one craves a group of real friends, at least one jolly brown-eyed person who could be theirs and is simply an unapproachable mirage seen from afar and on display all.

One finds out quickly that the way to create a campus atmosphere is simply to give of oneself. Who can contain the excitement of what is happening? Who can touch all the rain? Involvement is a necessity within one's life and is unique for each individual.

Lillian Jorgensen, John Seller, Jacqueline Seabrook and Diana Wolfe demonstrate that hours of preparation are reflected in impressive features.

A.H.S. has various forms of applied study, however Judy Conway, Charles Bush and Tom Hall find the chemistry lab a suspenseful and challenging experience.

Enthusiasm exhibited by Alison Agers and Pamela Smith while being chosen by Coach Cortese was as much out of frustration as of school spirit.

Robin Davis and Debbie Gavin wait anxiously to buy tickets for school activities.

Everyone was bound together by the electric cheerleaders, and for a while, people were not alone.

Almost immediately Patty Myrick was caught up by the spirited activities of the Freshmen-Sophomore Scramble.

Wendy Ervin, Irene Savage and Deborah Binger find the library atmosphere conducive to study.

The microscopic world is observed by Larry Haynes and Mike Cordy as they develop a better understanding of life.

Donna Fitzhugh is captivated by that special something found in those things called "books".

Study . . .

A Leading Part Of Campus Activities

While learning from all facets of the campus . . . extra-curricular, cultural, and social . . . the student, theoretically, acquires the bulk of his education from books and classwork. Life here is built upon and around study which, if neglected, may lead to a premature departure from the select group of people whose members have earned the right to be called "students".

From those who study at a steady pace beginning the first day of the semester to those who depend on the final cram for a grade, students engage in this activity with as great a variety of attitudes as the number of personalities on campus. For some it is met with loving enthusiasm; for others it is merely an unpleasant means to an end . . . a diploma. At times it seems that the pressure and competition to maintain scholarship is too keen, but whether of his own accord or by being pushed, prodded, and frightened into it, the student studies. This phase of campus life may or may not be used to its fullest advantage. It may or may not see its completion in graduation. But if a diploma is awarded to a student, one is sure that study's compensation . . . whether grades, a good position in life, or just having matured . . . is more than ample.

Every set of exams always ends with stalwart promises to keep up in all courses the next quarter . . . promises which—let's face it—nobody keeps.

Rain or shine, hot or cold, Renee Campbell, Vicky Love, Denise Dixon, Pamela Smith, Sheila Blanco, Darlene Rudd, and Evelyn Williams find that the cafeteria is an ideal place to exchange a smile or get refreshments.

Class Breaks . . .

Sounds That Interrupt Silence

The parking lot soon filled with horns and wheels. Cyclists arrived and kicked up their vehicles. The busses poured out their loads, usually just in time. By 8:30, the day fell into its routine.

But the classroom activities were broken. Out on the sidewalks, crowded with people, one found that other people smiled at him. It meant "hello". That was all the time there was. But sometimes there was more than just a smile. Sometimes they stopped to solve world problems and then were late to class.

To some, the faces that went by reminded them of some experience or thought and faded from thought to thought, each ending and beginning with a face.

Doors opening, lockers slamming, feet shuffling, bells ringing, doors closing. . . again silence. And in the classroom the students once again sought advancement.

Class breaks gave Rocky Rinearson, Tim Metcalfe, and Jim Bennett time to pick out their class rings.

Elaine Hoffman, Denise Dunbar, and Indrikita Abara make a big decision, what to have for lunch.

Leslie Browning helps Julia Conley and Pam Welch solve one of the many earth-shaking problems encountered in the attendance office.

Barbara King is one of many faces in a crowd as students pass from class to class, sometimes stopping to exchange friendships.

Bill Mason, Frank Cereda, and Ray Kimball engage in a great Armijo past time, people-watching.

On the way home from Reno, Nancy Otte, Barbara Heinsch, Robin Brouse, and Jim Hendricks can't decide which is more important, eating or talking.

These faithful steeds are awaiting the return of their masters.

At the Sophomore Scramble, mud was in plentiful supply, and Charmaine Nenio, Chris Sagert, and Patty Myrick were glad that water was plentiful, too.

Gridiron competition gave students an opportunity to be themselves, and for Robert Mall it was a chance to be orator of the day.

The Thin Man, alias Dominic Catabay.

Leisure Moments . . .

Important To Each Individual

The fresh air calls. . . play, breathe, be happy, free, relax. Remember the carefree times, all too short and gone now. And hours spent doing nothing, turning, dreaming, seeing and being seen.

To be a slave to work should not be one's sole purpose in life. But one should become aware of the other side, relaxation. While seeing friends, daydreaming, sleeping or just doing your own thing, one takes on a brighter, more colorful perspective through one's road-mapped eyes.

Leisure, a necessary part of vitality, is reflected in close friendships, fun, relaxation, and peace of mind after a demanding segment of one's day.

Susan Lovejoy, Mr. Blackwell, Suzie Howard, and David Wolfe found it took more than just a handful of marigolds to build the junior float.

Concern . . .

A Feeling Shared By All

A passing smile, a hello, a welcoming handshake . . . friendly expressions to show one cares. Remember the times spent listening to a friend or talking to one, or perhaps bending the ear of a teacher or counselor after school, maybe even a conversation with "dialogue".

For some there is a special kind of concern: going from day to day, always involved with other people, being accepted by some and rejected by others. It is for them a special kind of loving: living.

And so the world of Armijo High continues to revolve. The love, triumph, and hope of one is the joy of all, just as the loneliness and discouragement must be the burden of all.

What do Kathy Self and Pat Ward find so interesting about that paper?

Concern, a choice inward feeling, is shared by Clarence Smith and Zandra Nenio.

Pamela Dickson and Dennis Mattos enjoy each other's company at the homecoming dance.

Janet Osada, Michelle Duffield, Linda Gollinger, and Mary Lou Farris find that deep friendships are very choice possessions.

Mr. Brown typifies most teachers as he helps Ken Peschel with a class project as well as listening to and discussing problems with students.

Mrs. Arvin gives a listening ear along with the thermometer.

Drug abuse is a familiar term to today's students, and like many others, Armijo students become very concerned about it.

Introspection . . .

Time To Find Meaningful Explanations

At Armijo where 1,400 students laugh, become involved and attend classes together, it is a rare occasion when some academic or social activity is not asking for the student's attention. However, there are times when the student is alone. . .times when he can think and form his own opinions about what is wrong and what is right about life—especially his life. When he's walking home down rain-drenched streets or window shopping along West Texas Street with all of five cents in his pocket, when he feels the isolating silence of loneliness, while he's sitting in the quiet of a church, and sometimes even when he's right in the middle of a crowd, the individual can feel the peacefulness of solitude. A year at 824 Washington gives the student time to acquire part of a much needed education, but it also should give the individual time to search a deeper meaning in his life.

Helen Ramirez takes a few minutes out of senior testing for thinking, meditating, and daydreaming.

Paul Ortega takes time out at the Homecoming dance to think about other people as he watches the action on the dance floor.

Brent Wilson and Robert Harada have their own private thoughts as they listen to the beat at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

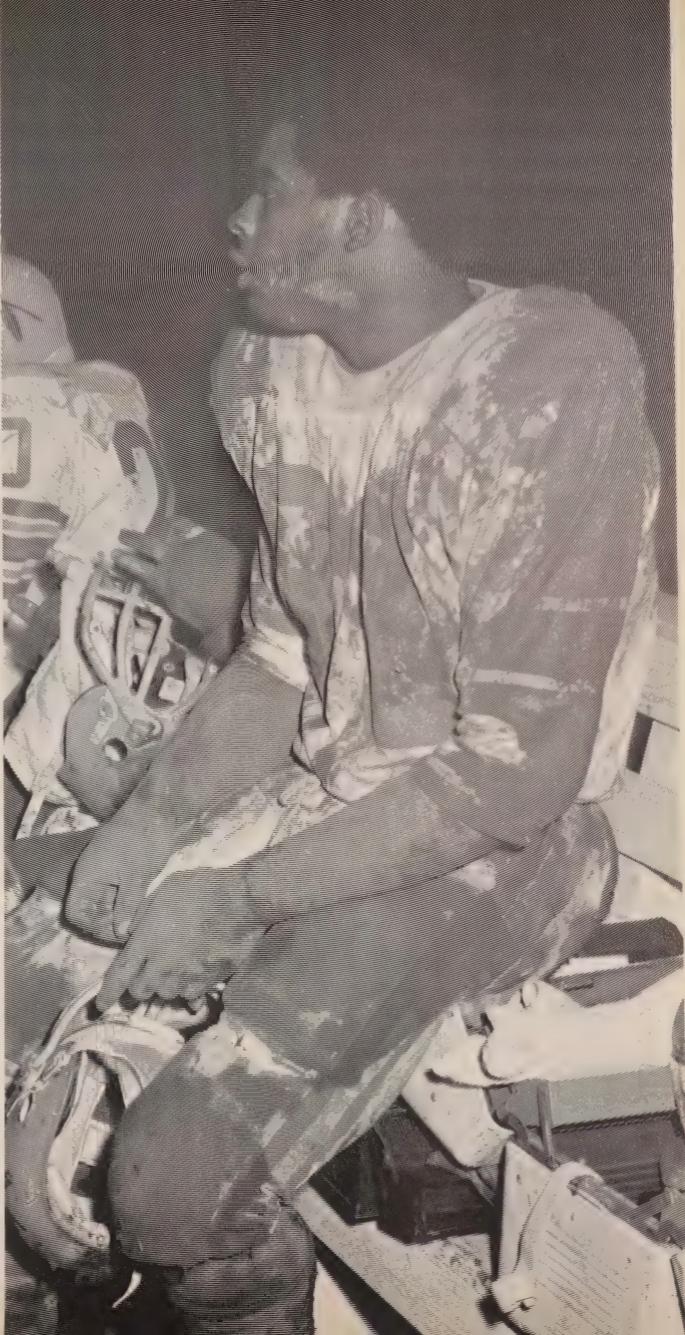

Chris Gambrill puts herself in a world of make-believe during homecoming week.

So many thoughts and so many feelings, it was a muddy and victorious night for Alan Grant and his teammates.

Laughter . . . Memories . . . Friendships . . .

Robin Sparks, Shirleen Pugh, Joanne Zamoyt, and Darlene Boyce, stop over for a brief break on the way home from the strenuous game with Wooster High School.

Popularity . . . Values . . .

The foundation of Armijo's spirit upon which all values are based is its heritage. Without it, we have nothing upon which to build or add. I think of football games, of laughter and dim-lighted dances; their popularity grows. Of rallies, dramas, and concerts, all completing the sensual communication. . .and I was entertained. But most of all I remember friendship, at its best and worst. Friendship to reach but not necessarily friendship to receive.

As participant or spectator, students joined with others and the events rose to excellence. This excellence demanded a variety of activities, through which a growing concern for social development and spirit was formulated.

The experience of being involved in special events changed, in some degree, those who participated, and gave them a storehouse of vivid memories. Some are depicted on these pages, and others are within their memories.

For these people involvement means fun. A chance to experience the joy of participation.

Special Events

Armijo's club sponsored dances are well attended by many.

Tina Tiscornia eagerly awaits the oncoming balloon just hoping it won't break.

Oh the pain.... Alison Agers has a difficult time holding up this one.

Frosh-Soph Round-Up

Every year in the middle of September, the freshmen battle against the sophomores in feats of skill consisting of mud-relay, balloon toss, egg roll, bat relay, and the three-legged race.

The main attention getter on this years schedule of events was the outstanding greased pig contest. There was a bonus of 20 pts. that was awarded to the sophomores, which brought the score to 60-60 tying them with the freshmen.

This years scramble had the best turnout and more spirit than was expected said many. Fun, rivalry, and sportsmanship, were the results.

Sophomores were disqualified in the egg rolling contest for breaking the egg. Glenda VanBuskirk was equally disappointed when it broke.

Freshmen think up new strategy against the sophomores as the lead continues to leap back and forth.

Here Diana Fraticelli contributes to the Sophomores wheel barrel of mud although not quite enough to catch the 10 pts. awarded to the Freshmen.

The Freshmen pulled just hard enough to topple another 30 pts. towards the win.

Janette Smith and Lynn Ledford are holding up well considering its a three-legged race.

Its not as easy as it looks, says Barbara Nienson, after ten times around the bat with your head on the top.

There were some mighty happy sophomores when Rodney Mineer chalked up the needed 20 pts. to tie with the Freshmen, by chasing after Porky, the greased pig.

The Reno game proved to be an exciting although sometimes disappointing game.

Reno . . . A Day To Remember

Something new this year was the exhibition game with Wooster High School, Reno, Nevada.

The Football players left Friday, the day before, at 12:30 p.m. to the tune of Armijo's great band and spirited pep squad. The day of the game was a long one, beginning at around 6:00 a.m. It took three and a half hours to reach Reno, and one half hour to find Wooster High School.

On the way home, the rooters bus stopped along the way to stretch and eat. On the road again, next stop . . . Fairfield.

Ah, what a morning, at least Robin Sparks was awake to enjoy it.

The crowd, although not too big in number had some noise that wouldn't quit, with the outstanding help of the boosters.

Susie Valeriote and Dianne Cravens' day started early. Many others also enjoyed the opportunity to rest before hitting Reno.

The way home as well as the faces were long ones, but no one can say that day won't be remembered.

"1970-71" Homecoming Parade and Week

This years Homecoming parade was held after school Friday, the 30th of November, at 2:30 p.m.

The line consisted of decorated cars, newly finished floats, and Footballs' "1970-71" Homecoming Queen and attendant candidates.

Marsha Craig and Maria Strybos displayed the typical dress on Costume Day.

"Stew the Wolves" was the theme of the freshmen float this year.

The first place float this year went to the Juniors. Here the winning float proceeds down main street during the parade.

Pom-pom girls, Lee Guthrie and Marcia Hart display Armijo Spirit during the parade through downtown Fairfield.

According to Gloria Zuniga, it's a sad, sad, sad, world.

Devoted Sophomores spend long hours constructing their float.

Fun and Games prevailed throughout the game.

Homecoming Week, November 26th-30th, included Clash Day, Dress Down Day, Do Your Own Thing Day, Mr. Irresistible Day, and Color Day. Thursday everyone voted for Mr. Irresistible. The candidates included: Bob Strahn, Robert Evans, Allan Grant, Steve Stellina, Dave Garcia, George Martin, Gary Grant. The winner Robert Evans, was crowned by the new Homecoming Queen, Doreen Fraticelli, at the dance. After school Friday, came Armijo's Homecoming parade with a simultaneous downpour. Varsity-Faculty Basketball . . . Men

Armijo's varsity basketball team swamped the 'old men' from the Faculty, 77-55 Friday, the 18th of December, in front of about 900 pre-vacationers.

Everyone on the varsity squad scored, as the first-string alternated playing quarters with the second team.

George Martin led the Indians with 14 points in two quarters, along with substitute Chris Tatham, who scored 11. Athletic director Gary Vaughn, led both teams with his 16 points, followed by Leo Petty with 12 for the Faculty.

The varsity Indians led throughout the game, out-scoring the Faculty in every period. After an 18-11 first quarter lead, Armijo led at the halftime break, 34-19. The margin increased to 54-33 at the end of three quarters.

Free throws were even for both teams at 17, but the varsity shot a higher percentage. Vaughn was the greatest foul shot artist, sinking six of nine attempts.

Varsity-Faculty Basketball . . . Women

Armijo's senior girls beat the women's faculty 15-9 Friday, the 18th of December. Linda Jackson paced the Indianettes with seven points in just two quarters of play, followed by Debbie Williams with four, and Ruby Tom and Gayla Richardson with two apiece.

'Mighty' Meek led the Faculty with her seven points, along with a point from both 'Looney' Limville and 'Hotshot' Hassler. Although the Faculty led, 5-2 at the end of the first period of play, the seniors scored eight points in the second quarter to take the halftime advantage, 10-7. The third quarter score was the final tilt, 15-9 as neither team scored a point in the final period.

Armijo-Fairfield Exchange Rally

This year something new was added in the way of an Exchange Rally with Fairfield High School on Friday afternoon, the 26th of February, the afternoon before the big game with the long known and much talked about rivals. Two skits were attempted featuring members of the Pep Squad, along with cheers by cheerleaders from both schools, and routines by Pom-Pon girls from both schools also. Armijo's rally turned out to be a big success.

The Spirit of Youth

It is that soothing quality which speaks for all that is real or imagined. It envelopes a high school campus with motivation, pride, and all the cliches which seem unreal to a generation of realists. It intoxicates the creative mind. It serves as the life thread for an age which it is fashionable to tell it like it is. This very spirit is Armijo's mantle. She wears it with a pride that at times seems almost alive. It reaches out. It can be psychedelic, or simply meditative. It is each individual's emerging personality, which, when nurtured, becomes the Spirit of Armijo High School.

Armijo's heritage is embellished with tradition. It is a composite of standards, buildings, men and ideas—which symbolize all that Armijo has stood for in the past and will stand for in the future.

It is therefore, that form which we draw in order to design our destiny.

Awareness . . . Tragedy . . .

The art of awareness is the art of learning how to awake to the eternal miracle of life with its limitless possibilities

It is searching for beauty everywhere, in a flower, a machine,
a sonnet, and a symphony.

It is developing the deep sensitivity through which we may suffer and know tragedy; but through which we may also experience the grandeur of life.

It is striving to stretch the range of the eye, and ear;
It is taking time to look and listen, and comprehend.

Special people, with special responsibilities.

1970-71

Laura Passnante

Laura Passnante comes from a country in South America called Uruguay. She has come to the United States to learn Agriculture. She plans to become further educated in this field to help her people in Uruguay. She studied English in Uruguay for five years.

Laura believes that the subject most important to her is agriculture, because of her eagerness to help her people, but she also enjoys her Art class just for the pleasure.

Laura previously attended a school called Liceo No. 20. It is a public high school with about 1,000 students.

Pablo Duran is also from the country of Uruguay, and is also studying Agriculture. Pablo is 17, and comes from a family of three children. He has two sisters, one 19, the other 12.

Pablo studied English in Uruguay for four years, before coming to the United States. He attended a high school called Joaquin Suarez. There are approximately 1,500 students attending the school. Pablo describes his school's system of education as difficult as in that the government chooses the subjects they take all the way through school.

Foreign Exchange Students this year: Simon Holmlia, Pablo Duran, and Laura Passnante.

Simo Holmila

Simo Holmila comes from Finland which is a small republic of 4.7 million people in Scandinavia between Sweden and U.S.S.R. Simo is 17, and the only child of his family. Both parents are working. His father is a bank manager and his mother a clerk. He says they are both remarkably musical and says that that accounts for his interests in music. He enjoys listening to music, playing blues, and jazz (and having an altogether good time).

Simo played with Armijo's marching, concert, pep, and jazz bands. In Finland he played with his own blues band called Hojas. He played piano, guitar, percussion, and he also sings once in a while.

Finland is, as said, a small republic. The government runs a lot like here in the U.S.A., the only big difference is that Finland has 8 political parties (Communist included). Because the Soviet Union is their neighbor and such a big country, Finland has to (when deciding about political problems) somewhat guess what the U.S.S.R. would want them to do. This is not to say that Finland is under communistic regime. It just means that good diplomats are needed in Finland.

This is what Simo had to say about his country. He says that the students at Armijo are wonderful and he is enjoying every minute of his stay here.

Involved . . . Experience . . . Activities . . .

Key Club members and their guests enjoy a fun filled evening of pizza and coke.

Happiness . . . Friends . . .

High School can be a total experience. Without downgrading the academic experience, it would seem safe to say that a large part of that experience is realized outside of the classroom.

The experience of being on a High School Campus is something which has changed all those who became involved to some degree.

Becoming involved is truly what High School is all about. One doesn't tend to remember the time he spent studying, but of times he spent with his friends and the unforgettable experiences that they had. The times that developed from being involved.

Involvement is truly the key to success and happiness in High School and for one to be involved he must have a part in the school's organizations and activities.

Pride . . . Confidence . . . Fairness . . . Cooperation . . .

Allan Grant drives past Wooster defenders with Jim Graf following for needed assistance.

Desire . . . Spirit . . .

At Armijo High School, it is stressed to hold your head high in victory or defeat. We may lose a game or championship, but no one can say that an Armijo team ever quit or played the game unfairly.

There must be a great desire to be a winner, and although it is easy to learn to be a good loser, one must continue to work at being a winner throughout life.

The wholesome value of athletics benefits not only the participants, but the spectators and the school as a whole. School spirit and pride is built up, helping all students in every phase of education.

For a high school to operate well, underlying qualities of cooperation and confidence must be present. These are brought about in part by sports.

Varsity Football

Allan Grant Heads Indian Award Winners

Armijo finished its 1970 football season in a tie for third place in the new Delta League. The Indians compiled a 2-2-1 league record and a 3-5-1 overall mark.

The Indians edged Fairfield High, 30-28, but dropped a squeaker, 21-20, to Vanden to bring about a tie in the city standings. Armijo's other wins included a 22-8 victory over Davis and a 32-14 win over Washington. A 14-14 deadlock with Vacaville caused a tie for third place in the Delta League with the Bulldogs. The Indians' trip to Reno ended in a 28-0 loss to Wooster.

Allan Grant was again voted the team's most outstanding player and most valuable back. Allan rushed for a school and city record 1122 yards, bringing his varsity career yardage to 2213. For the second straight year, Allan was selected to the all-Delta League and all-city squads as well as being named the city's player of the year.

George Martin landed on the all-league and all-city teams as an offensive end, while Gary Grant made honorable mention on the all-league team, defensive end on the all-city squad, top Indian offensive lineman and the Ed Hopkins scholastic award.

Sophomore quarterback Mike Cordy made honorable mention on the all-league and all-city teams. Alden Holt was a defensive back and Kerry Kreuter an offensive guard on both mythical squads. Hector Vargas was selected the team's top defensive lineman, while Richard Fancher was the outstanding defensive back and Dave Garcia was the outstanding player against Fairfield.

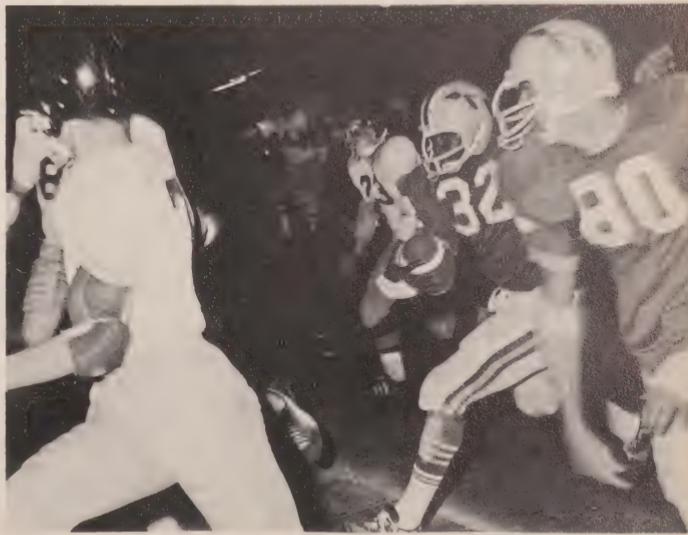

Ballcarrier Alden Holt is at the end of a long line of Wooster tacklers. Jim Graf follows for the Indians.

Mike Cordy hands off to Allan Grant, with Steve Berger running interference against Woodland.

Junior Varsity Football

The junior varsity football team finished with a 4-5 win-loss record, after compiling a 1-4 Delta League mark, with its only league victory over Fairfield High, 12-0.

The little Indians started off the season great with three wins against one loss, but due to injuries to seven of their starters, slumped in league play.

Sam Garrett and Kim McGee shared running back duties along with Steve Piontek who was injured late in the season. The trio, along with quarterback Joe Caruso, formed the bulk of the team's running game. Caruso combined a solid passing attack with favorite receivers Clarence Smithey and Pete Staple.

Ken Templin was selected most valuable player as a guard. The Indian defense was led by earth-shakers Carl Rapoza, Jesus Campos and freshman Larry Davis.

Sam Garrett breaks loose of a Wooster tackler and heads around left end with Dennis Richardson and Henry Castillo following.

Freshman Football

Armijo completely dominated the action against the Fairfield frosh, as the papooses swamped the little Falcons, 36-0 in the grid season finale.

The win was Armijo's only freshman football victory against five defeats.

Heyman Matlock, the team's most valuable player, was the Indians' steamroller, as he ground out 121 yards rushing. Coupled with Rex Lee's 45 yards, Rick Macias' 41, Isaac Williams' 35, 11 from Kelby Lewis and 12 by Kurt Templin, Armijo's offensive yardage was 254, including 15 first downs. Harold Yee completed the Indians only pass for ten yards to Jay Almstrom.

Armijo's only other impressive contest was its 28-12 loss to league champion Mills, where the Indians led 12-0 for a short period. Armijo's only other points scored was on a two point safety against Woodland.

Coach Clarke glares at sideline players, while coach Rogers turns his attention to the field.

Varsity Basketball

The varsity basketball team finished its season with an 11-13 record in spite of a disappointing 2-8 Delta League mark.

The Indians were the cellar-dwellers in league with six of their eight losses by four or less points. Bad luck was definitely the condition of the team's league play.

Armijo was 9-5 in pre-league action, including runner-up in the Arcata Tournament and Casa Roble.

The Indians defeated the old men of the Faculty, 77-55.

Senior George Martin led in all statistical categories, scoring 440 points, bringing his varsity career total to 1352. George also led in rebounds with 190 and in field goal and free throw shooting percentages. Six foot seven inch center Gary Grant followed in points with 230 and in rebounds with 139. Dave Aitken also ranked high in team totals with 170 points, and sinking 50 per cent of his field goals attempted.

Charles Hull finds it necessary to lean as he sets for a driving layup against Vacaville.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The junior varsity basketballers placed third in the Delta League with a 5-5 record, coupled with an 8-9 season mark.

In cross-city battles, the Indians split with both Fairfield and Van den, bowing closely in the two losses, yet winning convincingly the other two contests.

Mike Cordy paced the team with 202 points in 16 games; at 13 points a game average. Sam Garrett followed with 161; along with lanky Lonnie Spencer, 152; Steve Lambrecht, 141 and Pete Staple, 83.

Freshman Basketball

The papooses ended their basketball season with a fantastic rally to finish in third spot in the Delta League with a winning 8-6 record.

Although starting off with a pair of losses and a win over cross-city rival Vanden, 47-46, Armijo settled down to its league responsibilities with a quick four defeats.

Then the little Indians came alive, winning eight out of their last ten games, including two victories over Fairfield High.

Mark Dietrich paced the Injuns with 212 points, followed by Dennis Grgerson, 156; Richard Figueiro, 97; Robert Lambrecht, 81; Rex Lee, 68 and John Pender, 46.

Kevin Browning stops short of two opponents in readiness of a short shot.

Varsity Wrestling

In spite of a largely individualistic venture, Armijo's wrestling team shone in spots.

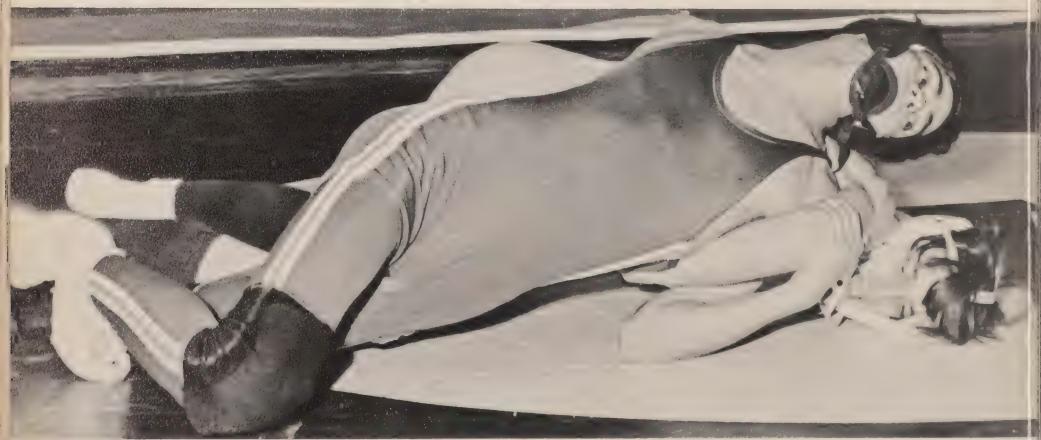

The Indians won the Esparto Invitational Tournament, a long-time vice, and placed nine individuals in the all-city tournament.

Several wrestlers had excellent seasons, headed by Rufus O'Quin at 148 pounds, who went as far as the Sub-Sections. Rufus placed in five tournaments as well as winning the all-city tournament spot.

Other all-city champions, who also looked good all season long, included Lance Stephens, Heyman Matlock, Bubba Kidd, Kurt Tempin, Mike Donahue, Ray Luna, Mark Jason, and Skipper Lightfoot.

Craig Raglund pounds his opponent down to the mat for a pin.

Junior Varsity Baseball

The junior varsity baseball club started its season with a healthy 1-1-1 mark.

The tie score came against Dixon on a 4-4 count. The little Indians shutout Vanden, 10-0 behind the overpowering pitching of Mike Perez.

Perez struck out 14 Vikings on his way to recording the victory. Mark Dietrich and Kim McGee collected two hits apiece, and Bob Detrick smashed a grand slam home run.

Coach Petty yells some pep talk to his team.

Dennis Richardson is being crowded by the umpire just before the pitch.

Freshman Baseball

The papoose baseballers, coached by Ron Clarke, initiated the season with a meager 12 man squad.

In spite of its smallness, the club quickly climbed in the Delta League standings with numerous victories.

Mike Fickess, Richard Figueredo, Robert Smalley, and Jay Almstrom paced the team in the hitting department, while Mike Castro and Figueredo shared pitching assignments.

Swimming

The Indian aquamen, under the tutelage of coach Healy, garnered only one pre-league dual meet win. The victory was by a wide margin, 53-46, over John Swett.

Top performance for Armijo was by Doug Kimsey who placed first in two events: the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard backstroke.

John Baranowski won the 200 yard freestyle, Dan Lockwood finished first in the 100 yard butterfly, Bob Polanshek won the 100 yard breaststroke, and Armijo's relay teams won the 200 yard medley relay and the 400 yard freestyle relay. Diver Ed Davis ended the season undefeated.

G.A.S.

The Girls' Athletic Society welcomed a new sport to its itinerary this year with the advent of a powder puff football team.

Varsity and junior varsity squads were organized and a lone game was played against Fairfield. The squaws won both contests and look forward to continued powder puff action.

The varsity basketball team was undefeated through the season under the coaching of Miss Lum.

Another fine representation was the junior varsity volleyball unit, which took third place in its league and second in the county championships.

The hockey and baseball teams, coached by Miss Linville and Mrs. Takahara respectively, got off to a promising springtime start.

The moment of relaxation before moving into the final competition in Long Beach.

Emotion . . . Talent . . .

Hot days in early fall and crisp mornings in late fall are filled alike with sounds of called drill instructions and meaningful confusion as new and returning members of the Armijo High marching band prepare formation routines and polished precision steps before their half-time football and basketball performances. The Armijo High Drama Club prepares for rehearsals, costumes, and scenery before their productions. A Cappella and glee choir rehearses for their Christmas program and between school competition.

Creativity is a heaven-sent gift which should not remain undeveloped.

Musical minds and hands should sing their sorrow, sadness, hate, and love to an audience.

Theatrical entertainment should display the art and beauty of a make-believe world. Words and pictures must be allowed to tell their story.

Creativity and art are expressions of emotion, they are gifts which were meant to be shared and displayed talent is beautifully shared by all.

1970 Band Review . . .

The Land of a Thousand Lights and total band participation entertained a packed house on November 20th in the Armijo High School auditorium. The 1970 musical show put on by the Armijo Marching Band featured marching reviews in productions: "A Salute to the Madegras", "Rock Sounds of the 70's", "1812 Overture" and "Russian Sailors Dance" with Cossack dancers; and "A Tahitian Review". A finale number featured the new look of Armijo Band in a "Salute to Long Beach."

Rain Drives Band Inside . . .

Long Beach Arena

Many of the 75 bands gathered at the Falcon Avenue assembly point and had to be diverted to the arena grounds with the help of police and National Guard Communications Service workers.

Several thousand spectators also had begun lining bleachers in the streets and police used loudspeakers in patrol cars to advise them to change.

Through the early part of the show pandemonium was the keyword as more than 300 school buses began unloading competitors at the crowded foyer entrance.

Yet somehow organization fell into place despite the drawbacks and forced delays, the show ran about an hour later than scheduled.

Instead of the usual continuous parade of bands, competing groups marched up and down the arena floor entering from the foyer and leaving at the back end of the hall. Each passby lasted about four minutes.

20,000 See Toughest Competition

They laughed at the rain scoffed at the Wind, coralled the sun and exploded its rays in a blast of color and sound unequaled at the Long Beach Arena.

The 8,000 high school kids had traveled too far, waited too long to compete in the All-Western Band Review - and they were not about to bow to the mayhem dished up by Mother Nature Saturday, November 28.

The decision to stage the show in the Arena was made only late in the morning when weather forecasts began to look bleak. It was only the second time in the parade's history that rain forced organizers to hold the event indoors.

Groups were split up, instruments were lost, hairdos spoiled, costumes were blown awry by the wind. Officials were scampering in every direction trying to create order out of chaos.

A crowd of 20,000, thwarted by the rain for the planned street parade, filtered into and out of the arena to see the best school bands the state can muster. And they were not disappointed.

Little Malcolm

Malcolm and his revolutionists plot an entry into the school.

Prolog

Halliwell, a new play-writer has created a British drama, which the Armijo Drama Club has Americanized.

The play is about Malcolm Scrawdyke who has been thrown out of his art college by Allard, the college president, for smoking in the corridor outside the president's office. He gathers his fellow revolutionists, Erwin, Wick, and Nipple and comes up with a plan to destroy Allard. In detail the plan consists of kidnapping Allard, then blackmailing him into destroying a valuable art piece and then exposing him.

But Malcolm, who had these brave ideas about carrying out his radical plan has trouble finding enough nerve to ask Ann, an attractive art student he had his eye on, to go out with him.

After beating Ann; Irwin, Malcolm, and Wick watch her recover.

Malcolm explains to Irwin his success if the plot succeeds.

Malcom and his accomplices plan an escape route.

Comedy Review

The Ballad of Peter Duroshin's Salvation Army and Lonely Hearts Club Musical Comedy

Produced by Debbi Wiseman

Directed by Tim Wright and Debbi Wiseman

Armijo High School drama premier of the wildest, fastest, and funniest musical extravaganza in Fairfield's history. The program, "The Ballad of Peter Duroshin's Salvation Army and Lonely Hearts Club Musical Comedy Review" will transport you to the Klondike, circa 1890, in the middle of the gold rush. You will be involved with medicine shows, dance hall floozies, claim jumpers, can-can dancers and every sort of entertainment which made the days of the Yukon famous.

Very special aspect of the show was that the live music was supplied by the Fairfield High School's talented Scarlett Brigade Band. It was the first time that Armijo and Fairfield High had ever performed together in any type of production. For the debut of the two schools together, an ultimate entertainment program had to be written and this was it.

A Night of One Act Plays

The Armijo Drama presented "A Night of One Act Plays" from the theater of the absurd, February 27 and 28 in the Armijo cafeteria.

Mr. Siegfried, the drama director, believes that a high school drama department should not be restricted to hohum productions (as "South Pacific") but instead, plays that reflect a social commentary, by new playwrights, of our time.

These plays were directed and produced by the students themselves. Each group of players worked on their own to make their plays a success. The plays were all vibrant comedies, but they leave a message behind when one is through laughing. Armijo Drama Club once again opened new doors by attempting plays never before performed by high school students.

Faces . . .

Dreams . . .

The campus stood quiet and empty, asleep, glittering in the soft moonlit night. A gentle breeze swirled its way around the buildings and down the walks. Slowly the night melted into a glowing new day and a different challenge.

But with the morning, you came, 1,400 of you with your eager eyes and polished faces, with your hopes and dreams, your fears and longings.

Among all of Armijo's disciplines. . .the arts, science, business, music, sports, athletics, administration. . .lives a tightly knit academic family. The staff takes an active interest in developing the students' inquisitiveness and in helping them reach intellectual achievement. But in the end, it is the student who must be willing to improve himself.

A study of protista proves to be interesting to Barbara Scott, Jeanine McNamee, and Mike Cordy.

Freshmen

Devotion . . . Warmth . . . Intelligence . . .

Olinda Prather watches on as Mr. Anderson instructs Judy Conway in English. Sharon Kerswill, John Baranowski and Ed Young are also seen keeping up with their studies.

Optimism . . . Wit . . .

The teachers who walk into class each day and do their best to help you understand the days work sometimes confusing you in the process. The administrators that seem as if they haven't any sympathy, but inwardly they care. The office workers that do so much and receive so little recognition. The custodians that make Armijo a better place to learn by cleaning up the mess the students make. The cafeteria workers that slave to bring the students a hot lunch.

These are the people that make Armijo the marketplace of ideas that it is. These people are made of a certain formula of warmth, optimism and wit, a formula needed to make our educational system a success. No matter what field they are devoted to, these are the people that, in a sense, create the school and maintain the atmosphere of intelligence so necessary to a school, to a place dedicated to education.

Theirs is not the type of intelligence that stops with the classroom, however. They are violently alive in the school life and in the "world beyond the classroom." But education remains their primary goal. No matter where they are, they are a truly fascinating lot.

Miss Hassler displays her school spirit during Homecoming week.

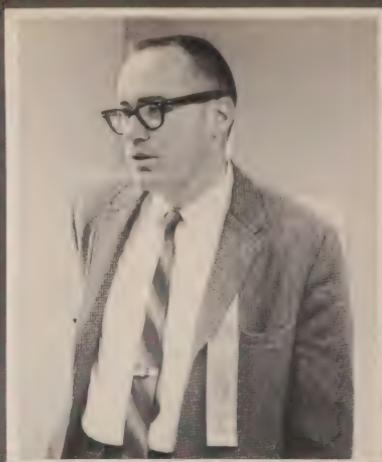

Mr. Cortese watches the play by play action at the Armijo vs Wooster game.

Swimming Pools . . . People . . . Steeples . . .

Fairfield-Suisun, October, 1970, from an altitude of 6,000 feet

Homes . . . Businesses . . .

Traffic lights, schools, railroad tracks, pizza houses, people, hospitals, parks, steeples, drug stores, dogs, movies, boat whistles, mail trucks, construction work, baseball diamonds, flowers . . . this is Fairfield-Suisun.

The twin cities are home to most students at Armijo; but more than that their life, their center of interest, and perhaps their whole universe as some may strike out for their fortune in the area they know best.

The cities reflect the life of the people comprising them, yet they share their own moods and personalities with all who come in contact with them. Their streets are inviting and exciting to the curious alien. They present a challenge to every member of their communities every day whether it be battling the rush hour traffic or fighting back the flood waters of a winter downpour.

From the fields of newly subdivided lands to busy downtown districts, the hearts of the twin cities are kept alive by their life blood, the people.

A black and white advertisement for Chicken Delight. At the top, there is a cartoon illustration of a chef with a mustache, wearing a toque (hat) and holding a tray with food. Below the illustration, the word "CHICKEN" is written in large, bold, capital letters. Underneath "CHICKEN", the words "DELIGHT", "COAST - TO - COAST", and "HOME DELIVERY" are also in large, bold, capital letters. A horizontal line separates this from the next section. The bottom section contains the words "also SHRIMP & RIBS" in a stylized font. The entire advertisement is set against a background of vertical wooden slats.

Black or White . . . United we stand . . . Ready to back Armijo . . . In pride, hope, frustration, joy or despair.

Joy . . . Despair . . .

Looking at Armijo, students may wonder what type of atmosphere it contains. Academic, social, both or neither? Does it contain hope, frustration, joy or despair? What does Armijo contain?

Armijo has all the elements of the surrounding world. Yet..it has more, it has the elements that makes a campus a distinct and unique part of our world-the element of inquiry; that burning desire to learn, to develop more and better techniques of learning itself.

For the student with a hearty appetite Armijo provides a wealth of facilities for the dispensing of knowledge.

For many people a chance to socialize means after-game dance.

Happiness . . .

HAPPINESS IS ... A blue sky ... A warm sun ...

... A soft sigh ... A true smile ...

HAPPINESS IS ... The sound of laughter ... A good joke ...

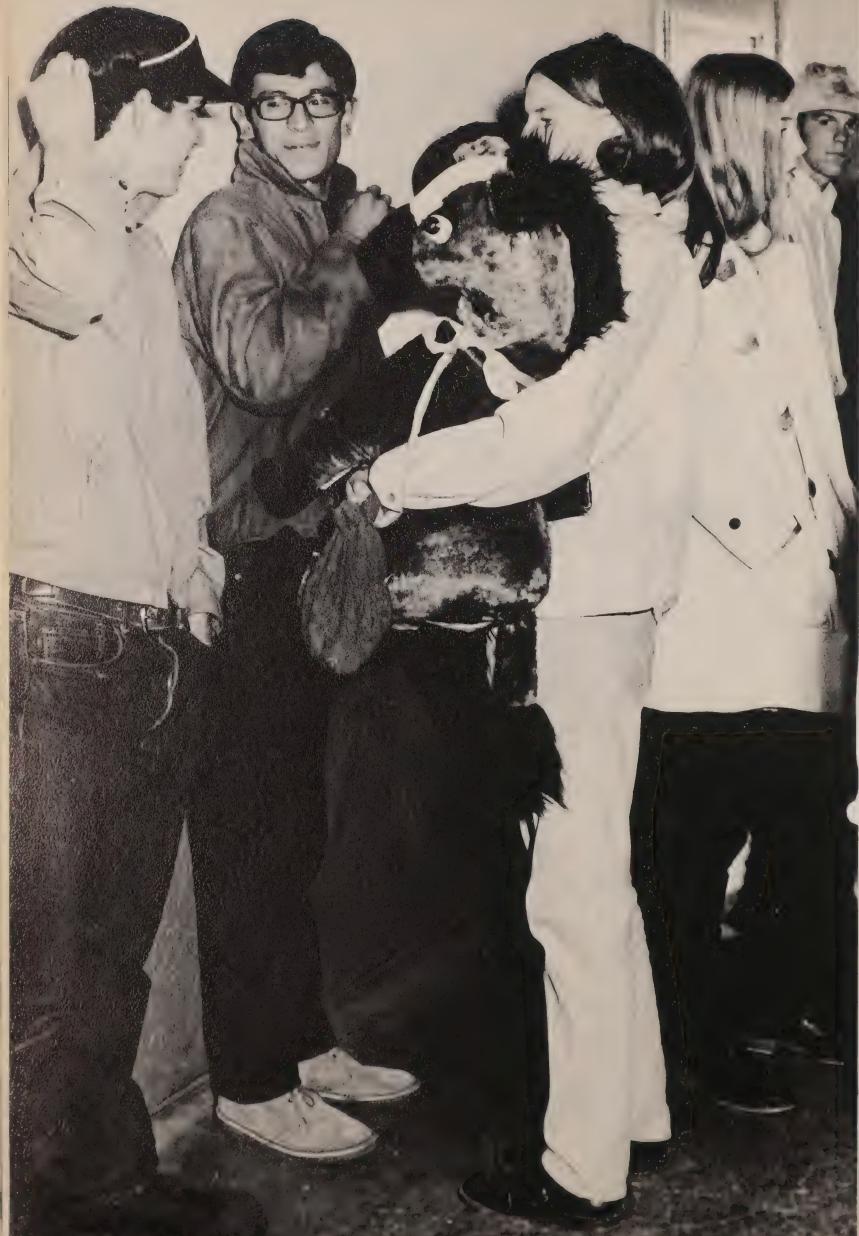

... Your boyfriend's ring ... A song to sing ...

HAPPINESS IS ... A flower in bloom ... Graduation day ...

... Achieving an A ...

BUT MOST OF ALL ... HAPPINESS IS ... ARMijo HIGH ...

Friendship . . .

Friendship is like French China
Fragile, Rich, and Rare
If broken it can be mended
But the crack is always there.

People . . .

"The trouble with life is that there are so many beautiful people and so little time."

A Smile . . .

Is golden...Like New England fall. Turned by wind's sunwork...Like people...Turning Turning...Seeing and being seen. Searching, Finding themselves...Faces in a crowd...As individuals...Leaving to FACE the future.

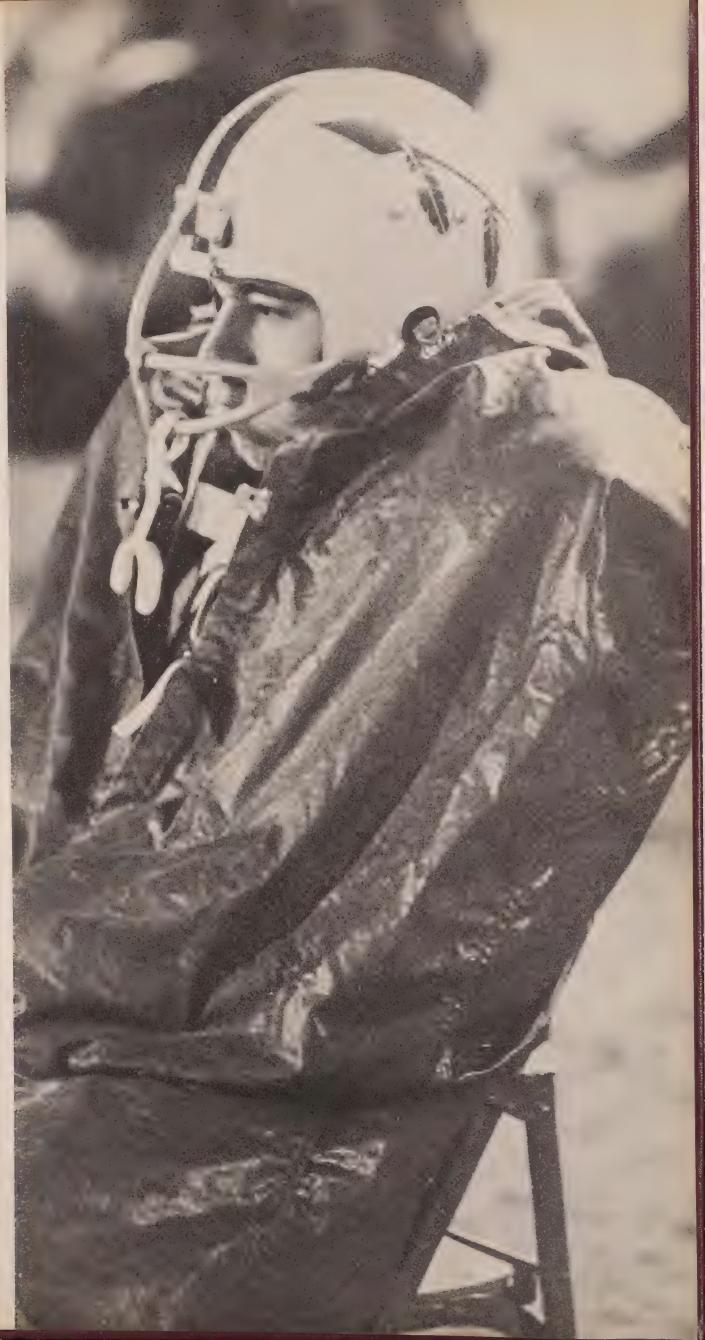

Sounds of Silence . . .

Hello, darkness, my old friend
I've come to talk with you again.
Because a vision softly creeping
Left its seeds while I was sleeping,
And the vision that was planted in my brain
Still remains,
Within the sound of silence.

In restless dreams I walked alone
Through the narrow streets of cobblestone
'Neath the halo of a street lamp,
I turned my collar to the cold and damp.
When my eyes were stabbed by the flash of a neon light
It split the night.
And touched the sound of silence.

And in the naked light I saw
Ten thousand, people, maybe more,
People talking without speaking,
People hearing without listening,
People writing songs that voices never share . . .
No one dared
Disturb the sound of silence.

Armijo 71 . . .

And Everyone did his own thing.

But most of all I remember freedom and its best and worst.
Freedom to reach, but not necessarily freedom to receive;
Freedom to think, but not necessarily freedom to believe
“And my words like silent rain drops fell, echo the well of silence.”

A landscape photograph showing rolling hills or fields in the foreground and middle ground, with a bright, possibly sunset or sunrise, sky above.

Who can contain the excitement of happening?

Who can touch
all the rain?

This is a yearbook:
at best, a token of
involvement;

the complexities of an instant

are far beyond the simplicity and understanding of an hour.

I Would Like To Thank . . .

So much time and effort goes into the production of a yearbook that it seems that many people who have made the existence of this book possible go without an adequate thank you for their help.

The La Mezcla is different this year than it has ever been. New ideas have been brought forth, more people, pictures and color have been used to record the years happenings as they really occurred. We've tried hard to turn out a good yearbook. We hope as the years pass this book will cherish the memories made during the 1970-71 school year.

And now, I'd like to say a special thank you to my staff. It has been a pleasure working with you. Great efforts were put forth this year, and you helped make what this book is today. To the underclassmen on the staff, those who plan to carry on next year, I wish you the greatest of luck. To the Seniors, special thanks and best of luck as each of you embark on your trails.

To Mr. Day, a very special thank you for giving me the privilege of knowing him and working with him on the yearbook staff these past two years. All in all the year turned out to be the greatest one, because of wonderful people like you.

Mr. Nenni, a special thanks is extended to you and your studio. You were always there in time of need or in a pinch. The staff wishes to thank you for everything, the time and effort you put forth day after day, developing pictures and taking pictures to help our yearbook grow, not only in words but in pictures.

Good luck to all of you in the future
